<<Page 1 Progressive leaders from across South Asia joined SustainaSummit 2025 by U.S. Soybean Export Council (USSEC) this month. The event brought together key voices in agriculture and sustainability under the powerful theme, “Now More Than Ever.” The summit called on South Asian businesses to take action by integrating sustainability into their operations, with a strong focus on responsible sourcing. Speakers highlighted that sustainability isn’t just environmentally responsible—it also makes smart business sense. A recent PwC Voice of the Consumer survey revealed that customers are willing to pay 9.7% more for sustainable or sustainably sourced products. This growing trend shows that sustainability is no longer optional. Companies that embrace it are more likely to gain market share, reduce risk, and strengthen their brand loyalty in a competitive marketplace.

On the global scene, Agriventure Limited was honored to speak for Bangladeshi farmers. This may mark the start of a global relationship that will benefit Bangladesh's whole agricultural value chain in addition to fostering a sustainable enterprise.
